Light Line Medical, which has developed a proprietary method of delivering light to prevent and treat catheter associated infections, is proud to announce we have been recognized as one of the top three 'Most Valued Company' at the Keiretsu Forum Investor Capital Expo that is showcasing 36 late-stage growth companies seeking funding. Nearly 50 angel groups, investors from 100+ Family Offices, corporate partners, and hundreds of accredited investors have attended the first two sessions of the Expo.

Light Line Medical was hand-picked by hundreds of attending angel investors as a stand-out innovator amongst a group of highly touted, entrepreneurial companies from U.S. and Canada.

"This is a great honor for our team and our product lines," said Vicki Farrar, Light Line CEO. "We have developed a true life-changing technology for dialysis patients, and we can extend the application into other areas of infection prevention"

The Light Line Medical technology uses non-UV visible light to kill bacteria and prevent biofilm both intra and extraluminally. The company has four revolutionary systems in development that are compatible with off-the-shelf catheters and endotracheal tubes (we are not manufacturing catheters). Its' first four products have the potential to dramatically decrease the frequency of peritoneal dialysis and infections, urinary tract infections, bloodstream infections, and ventilator associated pneumonia.

Results show a dramatic reduction in bacteria between control and light treated groups. SEM images from in vitro testing of Light Line's prototype Foley catheter show the extraluminal contrast in bacteria growth between test and control groups.

The Investor Capital Expo is hosted by Keiretsu Forum, the world's largest angel investor network ranked by Pitchbook #1 in two categories: Most Active Investors Early Stage and "Most Active Investors Late Stage. Regarding the Light Line-Keiretsu relationship, Vicki explains, "Keiretsu consistently delivers value before, during and after the event. I really appreciate the invaluable assistance in deck organization, presentation flow and audience engagement that Keiretsu account managers and coaches provide. Their consultation and feedback have improved our collateral content and our ability to supply a wide range of financial and marketing information to our target audience."
